Opera acts weird (sometimes)

Description
Sometimes when I start Opera, its window has a weird shape and position (see attached screenshot). Also, when Opera starts like this, subtle doesn't catch grabs anymore. I have to switch to another view with the mouse, then grabs work again. However, when switching back to the Opera view and giving the window focus, Opera sometimes doesn't seem to get any keystrokes anymore (but still reacts on mouse).

The position itself is not a bug, if you toggle center gravity this is the second mode. The focus issue is fixed in #1267.
